Multimedia editing programs Multimedia editing programs are used by many photographers to edit still image files that contain audio, audio/video files, and other multimedia files like 3D animation. Adobe Audition is the Adobe package for this purpose. (CS4 did not have Audition, but CS5 does.) Audition allows you to manipulate all kinds of media and, if you like, annotate the audio and video file.

Ted Cruz has been handed a potentially fatal blow by the supreme court after losing in an 11-hour round at the supreme court today. By overturning a lower court ruling that the Republican senator from Texas had not violated the constitution when he refused to comply with a subpoena to produce his tax returns as part of the ongoing investigation into his chief rival for the Republican presidential nomination, Donald Trump, the court has left Cruz's reputation in tatters. There are real dangers for the supreme court's verdict, which will set a legal precedent that will restrict the president's ability to derail a presidential election. Cruz's tax returns had earlier been subpoenaed by the federal government, as are those of other senators, as part of an investigation into potential violations of federal election laws. Trump seized on the inquiry, and the supreme court's ruling to block a Texas judge's order for the relevant returns, as further evidence of a "rigged" system "in total defiance of the American people". Cruz argued in his court challenge that he could not comply, as the supreme court ruled only in cases involving the president of the United States. But the court's majority, headed by Neil Gorsuch, an appointee of the Republican former president, George W Bush, ruled that the top lawyer in the land, the attorney general, Jeff Sessions, had the power to interpret the constitution. And it was clear that during the high-profile judicial selection process, involving the Republican and Democratic parties in Washington and judicial nominees, Trump's team had pressured senators to oppose any supreme court nominee who had any connection to the president's opponents, although it was not made clear exactly which nominee McConnell and other senators were asked to oppose. But Trump's comments this week have added a whole new dimension to the most bitter battles of 2016 as he has gone public with his accusations. "I am being investigated for firing the FBI director by the man who told me to fire the FBI director! Witch-hunt!" Trump declared. "Is this one of those times when I need a new lawyer? "No. No. I mean, I've had plenty of lawyers, and they've all done a good job. I think I've done a great job for the people of this country. No, I would never do that.
